INTRODUCTION.

To the Members of St. Mark's Parish.

I MAKE this Fourteenth Issue of the "Annual" the medium of expressing my cordial and very grateful acknowledgement, of the many offerings and benefactions specified in its pages.

I am specially and profoundly thankful for the personal service of a limited number of co-workers in the business we have on hand. Some have thrown down the implements they once wielded so well. A few remain faithful, however; and towards them my heart goes out in grateful love; all the more appreciately because by the many I am left gloriously, or ingloriously, alone.

The aloofness of St. Mark's congregation is a feature that embarrasses and distresses me. I go round and plead for some sort of personal active interest to be shown in the Church's work; and I meet either with curt negatives, or with transparent excuses, as a rule. There is seemingly a relish for sermons among us; but little of tangible value comes of it. If bodily health and mental serenity shall return to me, I may again see peace and prosperity about me.

I may take this opportunity of saying also, that what is called Pastoral Visiting is all in arrears with me. But to the discerning and considerate the reasons will be obvious ; I have not neglected the sick, nor the poor, however.

Errors in the following account must be allowed for.

Offerings of any kind usually reported in these pages made since January 1, 1889 must be looked for in the next "Annual."

J. H. Rylance,
Rector.

THE CHURCH SUNDAY-SCHOOL.

Superintendent's Report.

While the Parish Sunday-school has not been large in numbers, it is believed that it has done much good work in the Master's name during the past year.

The usual festivals of the school have been duly observed, to the evident enjoyment of the children —the good order at the Christmas-time gathering being especially noted.

The two Bible-classes—for the larger girls in charge of Rev. Brockholst Morgan, and that for the larger boys under the direction of Miss S. A. Hamill—are doing very effective work. In each class large and regular attendance, with evident interest, have combined to improve the tone of the school.

The attendance and zeal of some classes afford renewed manifestation of the value to Sunday-school work of the regularity and punctuality of some teachers. For kindly co-operation on the part of officers and teachers, the Superintendent expresses his gratitude.

"Books are a guide in youth, and an entertainment for age."—Collier.

Number of books in library	782
Number issued on 37 Sundays	1,110
Average per Sunday	30
Number of persons using library	130

Although the motive for reading in youth is usually entertainment rather than guidance, by suggestion and advice much may be done to attain both objects. This we try to do, believing that the child who learns to love good books will love them to the end, and that in youth and in age alike they will prove a never-failing source of help and pleasure.

Secretary's Report.

The Ladies' Benevolent Society of St. Mark's Church presents its Annual Report of work done in the Parish.

The object of the Society and its plans of work have been so often stated, and are so well-known, that it is needless to repeat them here.

The small number of ladies interested have performed their duties most faithfully during the past season; but the number has been very small, and it will be necessary for the workers to increase if the work is to be kept up.

From November until April, forty women have been provided with employment through permits, several of which were special.

Paid women for work, $352.50.

During the season the ladies, with the help of a paid cutter have prepared 467 garments and used 1,181 yards of material.

Five hundred and twenty-three garments have been distributed during the winter.

The report of the treasurer gives the financial details of the year's work.

The Society acknowledges most gratefully the generous aid received in money and materials from all those interested in this good work. An earnest appeal is made, however, for additional help during the coming season.

MARY W. PARIS,
Secretary.

Annual Report.

The Society presents its Fourteenth Annual Report to the parish, thanking all who have provided the means for us to go on with the work of Domestic Missions, and urging still co operation as the only means of increased success.

The few "laborers in the field" are most faithful, but a more personal interest in this special branch of church work is hoped for, while gratitude is expressed to all who have encouraged us, by presence, gift and contribution.

Our financial condition being better, we have not gone backward in our duty, but hope to press forward to a higher mark.

Spingler Summer Home.

The work of the Spingler Home during the past Summer was very satisfactory in that it reached a most deserving, needy class—"the sick and weary ones." And who better deserve the kind thoughtful care of "the well and strong ones?"

To those whose burdens have lain heavily upon them, and whose strength in many cases barely sufficed to carry them through the long, weary Summer, the rest from care was a boon.

Only those who came in direct contact with this suffering can fully realize the need of this branch of Parochial work, and the vast amount of good that is done in individual lives.

The work is a broad humanitarian one. Its opportunities for doing good do not lie alone in providing an escape from the heated city. This is indeed a blessing, but the aims of such work should be farther reaching. The Spingler Home if rightly managed provides rare opportunities for touching the lives of people who come beneath its roof.

Of those sent to be cared for by the Home none remained less than two weeks and a number remained the entire season. All who came enlisted the sympathies; each had his or her peculiar burden to carry; and it seemed to be a comfort to find a sympathetic ear into which to pour the tale of woe.

One of the number was an ex-Minister, whose life had been spent in a Bowery lodging house, year after year for the past ten years. He had become morose, misanthrope with little or no hope in his life.

Think what a season of ten weeks might be to a man of this sort, his life all soured by contact with the basest of the human family.

At the Home he had all his wants provided for, he enjoyed the books at his command and the perfect freedom of country life. Enough to know that the Summer had not been in vain for this man.

A case that appealed to the deepest sympathy of all was a man and his wife—people who had seen better and prosperous days. They were found through the instumentality of Mr. Iselin in a garret in Sullivan street without the necessities of life. He sick unto death and she barely able to minister to him for want of food. Through the kind thoughtful care of St. Mark's Parish visitor, they were provided with the necessary clothing for the journey and brought to the Home. Here they remained until the Home closed.

Words failed when sought to convey an adequate idea of the appreciation and gratitude of these people for the bounty and protection of the Home.

"It is the only peaceful season of rest and comfort and plenty that I have known for ten years." These were the words of the Colonel to those around him. And it surely must be a comfort to those who provided the means to carry on this work to know that the last days of this man on earth were made comfortable; and that his faith in God's goodness, and in man's tenderness had been revived in his heart.

The recital of individual cases, and experiences in each would occupy more space than the Year Book could afford. Had the Home but ministered unto two such cases, touching both the body and the soul, it might be content that the work had not been in vain. Yet this was not the extent of the work. Sick children left the Home strengthened, tired mothers returned to their work rested.

Before closing it is but right to speak of the happy co-operation of those in immediate charge of the work. The necessity of all successful work—unity of purpose—seemed to pervade the minds of the workers, and the result was harmony and good will.

Thanks are due to the Rev. L. H. Schwab, for the supply of choice books he sent to the Home for use during the Summer, and for the sympathy and material help given by Mrs. J. W. Davis at all times, but especially in times of sickness when she provided numerous delicacies for the needy ones.

To Mrs. Mitchell who sent the daily papers to the Home and to Mr. John P. Faure who sent us quantities of papers and magazines from time to time.

The house was very much improved by the addition of curtains at all the windows. These were provided through the generosity of Mrs. J. W. Davis.

The thirty-one visits made by the Rector, his assistants and the ladies of the Parish were very helpful to those in charge.

To Mrs. Roscoe Lyon and to Mrs. Lord, ladies connected with the Morristown Woman's Exchange, we are greatly indebted for the privelege of placing on sale work done by a very poor woman who came to the Home penniless. By this kindness she was enabled to leave with a purse of nearly twenty dollars.

DAY SCHOOL.

The school re-opened on the second Monday in September, with 94 children on register—50 girls and 44 boys—whose ages range from 5 to 13 years. The school is opened at 9 A. M. with reading of the Scriptures, prayer and the singing of chants and hymns. The children are instructed in reading, writing, spelling, arithmetic, geography, history and the church catechism.

We have a Sewing-school for the girls on Friday afternoons, and they have made a number of garments very neatly, which belong to them when finished. Donations have been received from the following friends for the Sewing-school: $25 from Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, $2 from Mrs. Talmadge, for parents and children, a large bundle of warm clothing from Mrs. Renwick, for the Easter festival flowers from Mrs. Pierpont and ice cream and cake from Mr. Rutherfurd Stuyvesant.

General Report.

During the past Winter, the Industrial has held its weekly meetings every Saturday, opening Saturday, Nov. 3d, 1888.

The roll book of the School, contains the names of some two hundred children, and shows an average attendance of one hundred and sixty scholars.

The school is in many respects in an encouragingly flourishing condition.

The attendance of the children has been fairly regular, and they have as a rule shown great interest in their work, while their conduct has been with few exceptions highly satisfactory.

While most grateful acknowledgement is made to those teachers whose faithful services have made it possible to continue the work of the school at all, it is to be regretted that larger numbers and more regular attendance cannot be obtained in this department. Lack of teachers during the past two seasons having proved the only obstacle to the full efficiency of the school.

The members of the Committee on Cutting and Basting have held regular meetings during the past three months, and have kept the school fully supplied with well-cut and thoroughly basted work.

The school opened on the 2d of November, 1888, with $23.66 in the treasury. Its receipts since then have been $67.67. Its expenditures $62,26, leaving on hand March 21st, 1889, $29,07.

New York, March 21st, 1889.

MOTHERS' MEETINGS.

The Mothers' Meetings have been carried on successfully during the year past. Special efforts have been put forth to make them bright and attractive. While the women sew, a story is read aloud and often lady visitors have entertained them with music.

The Mothers' Meetings have a two-fold purpose; they are a means of lifting poor women, for the time being, out of the darkness and drudgery of their daily lives, and they are enabled to purchase materials by paying for them in installments, or in such a way as their limited means will permit. The room is cheerful and warm and a ready interest and sympathy is shown them in their varions needs.

There was over one hundred dollar's worth of materials sold to the women, all of which was paid for during the winter. Coffee and cake was occasionally served after the usual sewing meetings, and at Easter the usual tea-party was given with a musical entertainment. At Thanksgiving the hearts and homes of many of the women were gladened by gifts of turkeys, vegetables and oranges.

The meetings are held on every Tuesday evening at the Memorial Chapel. The committee will be glad to welcome visitors on any of these evenings, or thankful for subscriptions toward the tea-party, to be given at Easter.

ST. MARK'S GIRLS' GUILD.

The Guild still continues its good work, and keeps the young girls of the Sunday-school together. They meet Thursday evening of each week, and spend a pleasant evening, games, music and work occupying the time. Once a month refreshments are provided. A fair was held last Spring with very gratifying results, and they were enabled to give $50 toward the Fresh Air Fund and put $100 dollars in the bank, in case of need among the members, thus "bearing one another's burdens."

GIRL'S FRIENDLY SOCIETY.

This society has become an established part of the work at St. Mark's Memorial Chapel. It is doing successful work among its members.

Through the kindness of a member of St. Mark's Parish, the society has been able to give lessons in type writing to those desiring to gain a living in that way ; also a promise from the same gentleman to further any schemes to provide educational advantages.

The girls devote alternate Monday evenings to charitable work, being now engaged in sewing for a hospital for children.

One can realize they are carrying out their motto, "Bear ye one another's burdens," by seeing them so busily at work and so cheerfully employed, after a hard day's labor for their own support.

Thanks are given to those who have helped the Society.

PARISH VISITOR'S REPORT.

The visitor has, in her work, been brought in close contact with the people of the chapel, and neighborhood, aud has by a few words of comfort been able to cheer the sick, and, by necessary aid, been able to relieve the needy. The result of the work thus done, yet remains to be seen, as she does not know how much has been accomplished. She would thank all who have aided in the work for Christ's sake.

Clothes Closet of St. Mark's Memorial Chapel.

Since April, 1888, 416 articles of clothing have been given away, and 6 articles of new clothing sold. Donations of clothing and shoes have been received from Hon. Hamilton Fish, Mrs. Stuyvesant F. Morris, Mrs. Margret Walsh, Mrs. J. W. Walsh, Mrs. Richard M. Müller. The Misses Major, Mrs. Frederick Talmadge, Mrs. David Lydig, Mrs. A. A. McGregor, Mrs. Bennett, Mrs. Topping, Miss Paris, Mrs. Van Beuren, The Misses Peck, Mrs. Vandervoort, Miss Robinson, Mr. Slade.

Donations of clothing and shoes may be sent to the Memorial Chapel at any time, in care of Miss Feeks.

KNIGHTS OF TEMPERANCE.

St. Mark's Co., No. 18, Knights of Temperance, the formation of which, in May 1887, was noted in the last issue of the "Annual," has earnestly pushed its motto of "Soberness, Purity, and Reverence," among the boys and lads over fourteen years old, in our two Sunday-schools, and from their neighborhoods.

At the annual competition exercises of the entire order, held in May last, the prize banner for "Declamation" was won by Knight Charles H

Hanson, one of the scholars in the Parish Sunday-school, who was the youngest of six contestants, the banner being the only one held in New York City by any company.

Weekly meetings are held with an average attendance of about forty (40) boys, one or more of the wardens being always present, when the beautiful ritual of the order is performed, the boys guided by many useful hints, instructed in declamation, organized in debate, led in courteous bearing, and drilled in infantry tactics by the wardens, who have had military experience.

Co. No. 18 is frequently detailed by the Corps Commander to institute other companies, and the views of the boys are broadened by both official and social contact with other companies existing in many of the other leading parishes of the city.

The rent of meeting and drill-room, the purchase of the regalia prescribed by the order, the expenses of visits to other companies, and the various entertainments for the boys are quite matters of expense. The members pay dues of five cents weekly and half the cost of their caps, but as most of the boys are beginners in their business careers, and some at school, the expenses are quite beyond the ability of either the boys or the wardens (who give their time to governing the company) to meet un-assisted; and, assuring the congregation of St. Mark's Church that a wise and useful work is being done among a class of boys and young men needing care, counsel and protection from many surrounding temptations, we respectfully ask their sympathetic and practical support in aiding us in this branch of the Master's work.

The "Literary" continues to do the work which it has now done for long—varied programmes from week to week—lectures, music, readings. This season, as a special subject, once a month the great English novelists are considered.

ECLECTIC LITERARY UNION.

The Eclectic Literary Union beg leave to submit the following for the Annual Report of St. Mark's Parish.

The Union meets every Tuesday evening at 8.30, and in consequence of the absence of its mentor, whose assistance was so highly appreciated, that the attendance has fallen off so much as to leave but ten active members.

A semi-annual programme has been issued, and such meetings are very well attended, particularly the entertainments.

The first Tuesday in the month is a business meeting; the second, entertainment; the third, author's night; the fourth, historical readings; the fifth, debate. All are invited to attend these meetings.

REPORT OF THE LIBRARY COMMITTEE.

OF ST. MARK'S MEMORIAL CHAPEL.

The Committee have not a great deal to report for this Annual, but another year will hope to speak of its interests more fully. The Committee through this means thank the members who have paid their annual dues so promptly, thus enabling them to carry on their work.

Likewise, those who have so kindly remembered them by donations of money and books. Several hundred volumes from this library were taken to the Morristown Home last Summer for the use of the inmates.

To our friends in St. Marks, we would call their attention to this library as too important an adjunct of the Memorial Chapel to be allowed to fall into decay, and with more means at the disposal of the Committee, much more might be accomplished.

Secretary.
